Tuesday, 20 April 2010 at 07:57

The American College of Veterinary Ophthalmologists is hosting its 3rd ACVO/Merial National Service Dog Eye Exam event during the entire month of May 2010.

Complimentary eye screening examinations will be offered to qualifying Service Dogs: no charges apply. Over 3,000 Service Dogs have received free examinations during the past two nationwide events.

Drs. Daniel Biros and Martin Coster, with the MSPCA-Angell Ophthalmology Specialty Service, are proud to be participating in this event, and will be offering special appointment times throughout May, but particularly on Saturday, May 8th.

Dogs that qualify include: handicapped assistance dogs, detection dogs, police dogs, search and rescue dogs and therapy dogs that are Delta Society certified. Dogs must be active working dogs that were certified by a formal training program or organization or currently enrolled in a formal training program.

Registration for the event will begin April 1, 2010. Please visit www.acvoeyeexam.org for more information. Once registered online, the owner can contact our office to schedule an appointment. Appointment dates and times will be filled on first come, first served bases. Early registration is encouraged.
